

I would like to comment on how much Indiana's Telephone Privacy Law has helped me. It was a nuisance to divert ALL telephone calls to a voice mail system in order to avoid the barrage of calls I received from telemarketers. Ever since signing up for the Indiana list, I have only received 1 call in the past year. At that was from a small local firm who were probably not as educated on the nuances of the law as other operations might be. This has improved my life greatly and I would not be in favor of ANY law that would reduce the effectiveness of the laws that Indiana has enacted. Please rethink your decision to preempt state law with a Federal law unless you intend to adopt standards as strict as Indiana. Thank you.
